Official Declaration of the participants of the project “Empowering for Change”

Aequitas carried out the project ‘Empowering for Change’ on the theme of combatting racism and xenophobia in Cyprus. The project was funded by the Open Society Foundations and was aimed at empowering migrants to participate in the combat of racism and xenophobia. In the scope of the project, the participants of the educational activities declared the necessity for the involvement of migrants in governmental and non-governmental initiatives for the combatting of racism and xenophobia. Furthermore, the participants underlined the necessity for the support of governmental and non-governmental departments in initiatives carried out by them in the framework of combatting racism and xenophobia. Such contribution would improve the quality of such programs and initiatives as the migrants know exactly what their needs are and the problems that they face in Cyprus.
